The Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016 (IBC), has been amidst us for almost two and a half year now. The learning experience has been very interesting. Once there were a lot of legal arguments based on certain principles and propositions of erstwhile legal systems, the predecessors to IBC. Slowly they faded away since IBC came to be recognized as one of a kind. Even as of now, Government of India has not yet taken the step to bring into force individual bankruptcy regime which is part and parcel of IBC. Across the country, intense deliberations are happening amongst the stakeholders, judiciary and regulator with respect to very important matters such as settlement, role of adjudicating authority in approving resolution plans, transferring undertakings as going concerns even in liquidation, role and stake of operational creditors, home buyers, role of committee of creditors, stressed sectors, group of companies, individual bankruptcy, cross border insolvency. In these series of conferences, at ASSOCHAM, we intend bring a detailed discussion on each of the above important topics by inviting subject experts, regulators, judicial and technical members of the adjudicating authority and appellate tribunal so as that emerging ideas could be used to shape this infant law. We are confident that these conferences will enable stakeholders and authorities to understand the different perspectives of the critical issues, and will help identify solutions and directions.

For this purpose, ASSOCHAM with support of Industry leaders and professional firms is organizing Regional Series of Conference on Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code on 26th July – Bengaluru from 09:00 AM to 03:00PM .
